

My Teacher

My teacher is Miss Wong. She is tall. She has got long, straight hair. Her eyes are small and black. She looks intelligent. She likes reading and teaching. She teaches us English.

Miss Wong always gets up early in the morning. First, she has breakfast. She always eats bread for the sake of time. Then, she goes to school to teach us. She takes the MTR because it is very fast.

In the afternoon, she has lunch and marks our homework. She eats a sandwich for lunch so that she can have more time to mark our homework. In the evening, she has dinner. She eats noodles for dinner. Then, she plays with her children. After that, she brushes her teeth and goes to bed. She is busy every day.

I asked her whether she would feel bored because the job she chose is repeating itself every day, but she said it was her childhood dream to pass information to future generations so she was happy about her job. This is the thing I want to learn from her: pursue our dreams and never give up.
