

Forest on Fire

Just before the end of this summer holiday, Jack and Harry had the most unusual and frightened, if not breathtaking experience in their life.

It was a perfect hiking day and the sky was filled with fluffy clouds. Jack and his brother, Harry, were patrolling up a hilly path, feeling the breeze of the wind.

“Help! The fire is going to burn down the forest!” Jack screamed at the top of his lungs when he saw the raging fire and the black smoke. The boys were startled and their legs couldn’t move as if they were rooted on the ground. Eventually, they summoned up their courage and darted to a bungalow to ask for help.

“Bang! Bang!” The boys knocked on the door anxiously. “Please call the firefighters, quick!” Harry yelled at the lady who opened the door.

The firefighters came in a blink of an eye. They ran into the forest fearlessly and connected the hoses to the hydrant and directed the water at the flames.

Finally, the fire was put out and the boys were relieved. The firefighters even praised them for their bravery and gave them a shiny badge as a reward. What a day!

Jaime Chung 6B (5)